

Artisans show wares on New Hope's streets

Artisan Nathan Favors displays one of his wood creations.

Festival coordinator Linda Rowe, Mayor Larry Keller, festival Co-chair Ana Leyland, chamber President Glen Stephan and festival Co-chair Sharon Flanagan.

Photographer Chris Hill holds a picture from his collection.

Fiber crafter Karen Lewis models one of her creations.

The 16th annual Juried New Hope Outdoor Arts and Crafts Festival was held Sept. 26 and 27 at the center of town.

Promoted by the New Hope Chamber of Commerce, the festival highlights the work of more than 125 artists and artisans specializing in photography, watercolors, oils, pastels, pen and ink drawings, silver and gold jewelry, ceramics, wearable art, glass, wood, sculpture and furniture.

Exhibitors from the show mingled at the Stephan House for a reception before the festival. Guests enjoyed dinner donated by Karla's, Tuscany on the Towpath, Havana, Soup to Nuts, Jamie Hollander, Café Europa, El Taco Loco, Marsha Brown Creole Kitchen, Mother's, Triumph Brewery, Villa Vito, Weenie World, Zoubie, Buckingham Winery, Giant, Italian Cucina, The Mansion Inn and 90 Main.

Photographs by Gordon Nieburg

Crafter Megan Lemieur with her papier-mâché sculptures.

Crafter Donna M. Genovese with her chainsaw wood carvings.

Morning showers didn't stop Hudson Pally from attending the festival.

Scott Davidson of Image Circle was awarded first place for photography.

Shawn Dawson has his portrait sketched by illustrator Barbara Thornton-Haas.

Volunteers Kathy Lyons and Johnny Fresco serve the Landing Restaurant's sweet corn chowder. Soup proceeds went to New Hope Eagle Fire Company.